LET'S TALK about war's end in Europe and peace and all that sort of thing.

We aren't supposed to discuss peace—not right out in the open—because that might stimulate optimism. I'm well aware that I shall receive letters, written in sorrow and in anger, accusing me of coddling complacency. However, this isn't a bad time to give peace the "once over", and not wait for the war to blow up in our faces.

We don't need a soothsayer to tell us we are near the end of the European war. Indeed the Nazis might quit at any time!

We must—if we are to justify discussion of early peace—recognize that the fighting might continue for a considerable time if Himmler and Goebbels cling to their mad scheme of battling to a finish. Even so, it will be surprising if it goes further than late spring or early summer.

Despite their typically Prussian effort to bully the Allies into a compromise, the Hitlerites have been fishing for peace—and that's official.

The armistice may arrive without warning, as the result of sub-rosa discussions of a "semi-official" character.

Hitlerdom is cracking up fast, militarily and politically. I always have thought the collapse of Germany would be premised on one of two things: (1) The loss of Hitler's personal leadership—since he has been Nazism's very mainspring, without which the regime must perish, and (2) deterioration of the German military machine to the point where the Allies would be able to crash through the last great barriers of Hitler's inner fortress—the Siegfried line and the Rhine in the west, and the powerful Oder defenses in the east.

We are on the verge of fulfilling the military requirement. The superior Allied armies are tearing the "invulnerable" defenses to shreds. We have breached them on both sides and are about to pour great armies through them into the open plains of central Germany. The Allied air navies have so blasted the resources of the Reich that the Hitlerites are living off their own fat.

Once the Russians and the Western Allies are sweeping across Germany, organized resistance will collapse quickly.

The other requirement—loss of Hitler's leadership—has been fulfilled. He is reported to be a broken shell of a man for whom Himmler the hangman and Propaganda Minister Goebbels are ghosting to keep the facts from the German public. The people will quit, despite Himmler's rule of death, when finally they realize Hitler is finished.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, March 21.—At least 17 Japanese warships, including a 45,000-ton superbattleship and eight aircraft carriers, were crippled Monday by more than 1,000 American carrier planes which hunted down the bulk of the enemy home fleet hiding in Nippon's 240-mile-long inland sea.

The audacious raiders from Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's world's largest task force, penetrating an area which Japan considered safe for her navy, also destroyed 475 enemy planes Sunday and Monday and damaged well over 100 more.

Not one American warship was sunk, although one was damaged seriously and others sustained minor blows by the Japanese home-based airforce.

Combat losses of the carrier planes "were extremely light".

These first accounts of the most daring naval action of the Pacific war were pieced together today from a preliminary report of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance of the U. S. Fifth fleet and first hand accounts of pilots given to Associated Press Correspondent Hamilton W. Faron with Mitscher's task force.

The fliers, who swept over Japan's major naval bases and scores of air bases, told Faron their bombs and rockets smashed into:

A battleship of the Yamato class (the 45,000-ton Musashi was sunk last October in the battle of Leyte gulf and her sister ship, the Yamato, was damaged. They were Japan's two biggest battleships.)

A battleship converted into an aircraft carrier.

Three large aircraft carriers.

Four small, escort type carriers.

A heavy cruiser.

A light cruiser.

Four destroyers.

A destroyer escort.

A submarine.

Damaged Ground Installations.

Six small surface craft, including one oiler, were sunk. Seven others, including two oilers and four large cargo ships, probably were sunk.

The carrier planes cratered airfields, attacked aircraft factories, destroyed plane hangars, arsenals, oil stores and workshops.

The Japanese warships, identified by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz as "the principal units of the Japanese fleet," scurried for shelter.

Mitscher went in after it.

His planes scored the first telling blow on Nippon's navy since the enemy was routed off Leyte gulf and in adjacent waters of the Philippines with 24 warships sunk, 13 probably sunk and 21 damaged.

The Sunday and Monday toll of more than 575 enemy planes destroyed or damaged in action from Kure to Honshu made 1,400 accounted for over Japan by carrier attacks.

Tokyo radio broadcast the unconfirmed claim that more than 180 American planes were shot down in two days and 14 warships sunk or damaged.

When the Navy blasted the way for the landing of troops near Casablanca, Morocco was on a cruiser, firing eye-witness accounts of the warfare.

When ships and men stormed the defenses of Sicily, Morocco was on the scene again—this time aboard an assault transport. Both times he came out of battle with Navy commendations for his conduct during invasion action and with living stories of fighting men.

He got over to England in time for the Nazi bombings and spent the next few months covering naval and air work. Then he invaded France on an assault transport carrying a battalion of the 19th Infantry division which led the first wave on three beaches.

From D-day on until his recent return to this country, he divided his time between visits to the front and service in the English channel, which he crossed 14 times.

More than 300 survivors of the Bataan March of Death were honored at the ceremonies.

DELAY NAMING
OF COUNCILMAN

Solons Are Expected To
Name Cavanaugh
Successor April 3

Council last night took steps to fill the vacancy created by the death of Third Ward Councilman Charles Cavanaugh, who died Tuesday, March 13.

President Chalmers Zimmerman referred the matter to council as a whole and instructed members to begin consideration of an appointee, who he said should be named at the next session, April 3.

The lawmakers are required by law to fill a vacancy within 30 days after the death of a member. Cavanaugh was the only Democrat in council.

It will be up to City Solicitor Henry Reese to appoint a temporary solicitor for the city when he goes to the army, it is understood. He passed his induction exam at Cleveland earlier this month.

An ordinance authorizing the transfer of $1,400 from the water department fund to the water department lands and buildings fund was passed. The money is to be used to purchase 20 acres of the Lewis property, one-quarter of a mile north of the recently purchased land for the new water reservoir, two miles southwest of the city on the Newgarden rd.

Action on this purchase was initiated last fall but title transfers have held up the financial end of the deal.

Service Director Frank Wilson reported that considerable work had been done on city streets during the recent balmy weather, filling in holes created by the winter's upheavals.

Chairman Arch Wentz of the water committee reported that the water department was investigating the annual spring cleaning of the city's wells and water system in

GUARANTEED WAGE
SURVEY TO BEGIN

WASHINGTON, March 21.—With presidential blessing, a panel of White House advisers set out today to determine whether a guaranteed annual wage should be added to postwar job security plans.

The proposal leaped into prominence as a demand of the CIO United Steelworkers last fall. It was rejected by the War Labor board as subjecting the steel industry to such "serious financial risks" as to be "unworkable" in the form sought.

President Roosevelt yesterday asked the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Conversion to undertake a nationwide study of existing wage-guarantee plans and recommend any "further steps in this direction which may seem practicable and desirable."

Sen. Taft (R., Ohio) said he believed such a study entirely proper, adding: "It will be difficult for some industries to guarantee annual wages, but some of them certainly can do it."

Taft expressed belief an annual wage might be helpful in reducing costs in mass production of housing.

7,000 Allied Warplanes Rip
Germany In Day-Long Raids

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, March 21.—Allied air forces ripped Germany from dawn to dusk today with explosives from 7,000 warplanes, including 2,000 heavy bombers which unleashed one of the greatest coordinated attacks of the war.

The four-engined bombers from Britain attacked the Reich, while American bombers from the Southwest Pacific mauled German troops fleeing from the American advance toward the Rhine.

Another fleet of U. S. 15th Air Force bomber formations from Italy assaulted Nazi communications in Austria.

In the smoke-blanketed Ruhr

American Liberators from Italy bombed a jet-plane air base and Flying Fortresses pounded oil refineries in the Vienna area.

A second fleet of U. S. Eighth Air Force bombers flew into Germany late this afternoon.

The attack shifted to the Ruhr.

The U. S. fleet from Britain comprised 1,300 bombers with 700 fighters which also lugged bombs.

The American planes hit airfields located near Hoesel, Rheine, Achmer, Albern, Hesepe, Handorf, Zwischenahn, Wittmundhaeren and Marx, some of which are bases for jet-propelled Messerschmitts.

The German raid said one force of heavy bombers attacked the already devastated city of Dresden.

The daylight raids started only a few hours after a great armada of RAF night raiders had struck at enemy oil refineries and blasted Berlin for the 29th consecutive night.

Scores of lesser villages fell to both armies. At least three pockets of Germans lay behind Allied lines awaiting death or capture.

The largest trap was a Saarland pocket of less than 80 square miles around Saarbrücken.

Compared to the staggering enemy losses, American casualties were surprisingly light, AP Correspondent Edward D. Ball reported.

A good many Allied officers, twice disappointed and wary, now were willing to bet that the European war would be ended within 60 days—but they were getting some takers.

4 Third Army
Columns Near
Chemical City

(By JAMES M. LONG)

PARIS, March 21.—The German debacle in the Saarland and palatinate appeared likely today to cost Hitler's badly bled forces close to 100,000 casualties as the United States Third army closed to within five miles of the great chemical center of Ludwigshafen-Mannheim and fought inside Mainz.

Two German armies, the First and Seventh, either were wiped out or doomed except for scattered elements.

At Supreme headquarters, it was estimated that the swift Third army of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., alone had herded an estimated 30,000 Nazis into prison pens in 48 hours as it and Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army closed new traps which might boost the overall total of captured in the whirlwind campaign to 75,000.

The Seventh army, driving up from the southern bases of the Saarland and palatinate, did not even tabulate its prisoners beyond the first 6,000.

The rich Saar valley, with its steel mills and vast coal deposits, was won, taking from Germany her third largest industrial sector.

Important cities such as Saarbrücken (population 135,000), Kaiserslautern (61,000), Worms (50,000) and Zweibrücken (16,000) were captured by the American Third and Seventh armies.

Some divisions advanced 15 miles or more a day. It seemed doubtful Hitler's army could rally for a stand in strength east of the Rhine—where greater offensives were in the making.

Extension of the First army's east Rhine bridgehead to a deployment area at least 25 miles long and up to nine wide underscored the threat to the Ruhr, invaded on the west and threatened by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' troops which captured Bielefeld, Bonn suburb 14 miles south of the Ruhr.

Gen. Eisenhower warned that the Ruhr, the source of 75 per cent of all German war production in 1942, was next in line of conquest.

Patrol Lower Rhine

The lack of punching power east of the Rhine was apparent in German ranks. Prisoners plodded to the rear in uncounted thousands. The enemy had thrown the best troops at the Remagen bridgehead and failed to check its expansion.

The enemy was falling back upon the narrow Siegfried and West rivers, plainly despairing of driving the Americans from the east bank of the Rhine.

The American Ninth, British Second and Canadian First stood in strength opposite the cities of Dueseldorf and Duisburg and engaged in vigorous patrolling over the lower Rhine.

Up to yesterday, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had inflicted 45,000 casualties on the German First and Seventh armies in the Saarland, palatinate and Hesse. He added 8,229 prisoners to that yesterday and still had 20,000 awaiting transport to cages. The Seventh army had captured 6,040 prisoners by yesterday.

Scores of lesser villages fell to both armies. At least three pockets of Germans lay behind Allied lines awaiting death or capture.

The largest trap was a Saarland pocket of less than 80 square miles around Saarbrücken.

MARCH RAINS AID
OHIO FARM LANDS

Refreshes Soil But Delays
Plowing; Next Two Weeks Critical Period

Agricultural authorities were agreed today that the heavy March rainfall has not damaged farm crops but warned that the next two weeks will be a critical period for the Ohio farmer.

H. C. Ramsower, director of the Agricultural Extension service of Ohio State university; John Hodson, state director of agriculture, and Wilber Stout, state geologist, hailed the rain as a soil refresher.

Ramsower said plowing has been delayed because of soggy fields, but added there is still plenty of time.

He pointed out that oats must be sowed early to capitalize on the wet and cool weather, while corn planting can wait, if necessary, till May.

The extension service head felt the benefits of the soaked earth with wheat and grass getting a good start, would overshadow the problem of the "bunched up" work on the farmer.

"The farmer is still the biggest gambler," Hodson said, "and now their crops depend on how much more water will fall, and whether there will be a killing freeze after then seasonal warm weather."

He said tobacco growers in southern Ohio are three weeks behind schedule, but added "last year the late planters did a lot better than the early planters."

"The farmer is still the biggest gambler," Hodson said, "and now their crops depend on how much more water will fall, and whether there will be a killing freeze after then seasonal warm weather."

RED CROSS FUND
REACHES $29,500

The final "hurry up" cry was issued today by Red Cross officials as the Salem War Fund Drive reached to within $2,800 of its $32,300 goal.

Officials, after tallying late reports this morning, wired national Red Cross headquarters that a total of $29,500 had been collected in Salem as the end of the drive was in sight.

Nearly all committee reports were in today, but a few were yet to be received. Chairman Carl Willman urged all workers to round up their solicitations as soon as possible.

Poland Is Fighting
For Freedom, Woina
Tells Rotary Club

Poland, one of the oldest Christian nations in the world, which adopted the first democratic constitution in Europe, is fighting for the same freedom America is fighting for, Rotarians were told yesterday by Anthony Woina, chief engineer of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

Speaking on the subject, "Quo Vadis Poland?" at the club's luncheon meeting in the Memorial building, Woina gave a fascinating and vivid picture of Poland's struggles throughout the years to retain her position as a free, peace-loving country. Obliterated as a nation for 123 years, the spirit of the Poles could not be subdued and a new Poland was formed.

Her long history has been one of culture, freedom and democracy during which she has produced world leaders in the arts and sciences, men and women famous in music, education, medicine and literature. Since the first World War she had developed a sizeable navy, many large universities up to the present war and became a leader in social security legislation, having long ago provided many of the social reforms which are in their initial stages in this country today.

With such a rich background, Poland is fighting to retain only the territory that belongs to her, Woina pointed out. Russia's demands, he added, will take away more territory and more people than Poland is to receive.

The speaker was born in Poland but came to this country with his parents when he was a child. He was presented to the club by Rev. Harry Barrett.

Pfc. Sherman R. Godward
Is Wounded In Germany

Pfc. Sherman R. Godward of Wilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Godward, has been slightly wounded in action in Germany, his parents were notified yesterday.

The Wilmore soldier had been serving with Gen. Patton's Third Army. He has been in service three years and overseas since October.

His wife, Mae, and daughter reside near Damascus.

His address is: Pfc. Sherman R. Godward, 35399515, Btry C, 920th F.A. Bn., APO 95, care postmaster, N. Y.

Pfc. Clyde Crew Wounded
In Fighting In Germany

Mrs. Edith Lentz of R. D. 3, Salem, has received word that her son, Pfc. Clyde E. Crew, has been wounded while in combat in Germany.

In the infantry with the Seventh Army, he has received the Purple Heart and several medals for exemplary conduct.

Pfc. Crew is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Baker, E. Pershing st.

Ohio Pilot Bails Out

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., March 21.—Lt. R. I. Semier of Gallon, O., escaped injury yesterday when he bailed out of a fighter plane at Mt. Wilson, near here. He was flying from Newark, N. J., to the Middle-town airport when engine trouble developed.

More than 300 survivors of the Bataan March of Death were honored at the ceremonies.

DELAY NAMING
OF COUNCILMAN

Solons Are Expected To Name Cavanaugh Successor April 3

Council last night took steps to fill the vacancy created by the death of Third Ward Councilman Charles Cavanaugh, who died Tuesday, March 13.

President Chalmers Zimmerman referred the matter to council as a whole and instructed members to begin consideration of an appointee, who he said should be named at the next session, April 3.

The lawmakers are required by law to fill a vacancy within 30 days after the death of a member. Cavanaugh was the only Democrat in council.

It will be up to City Solicitor Henry Reese to appoint a temporary solicitor for the city when he goes to the army, it is understood. He passed his induction exam at Cleveland earlier this month.

An ordinance authorizing the transfer of $1,400 from the water department fund to the water department lands and buildings fund was passed. The money is to be used to purchase 20 acres of the Lewis property, one-quarter of a mile north of the recently purchased land for the new water reservoir, two miles southwest of the city on the Newgarden rd.

Action on this purchase was initiated last fall but title transfers have held up the financial end of the deal.

Reports On Street Work

Service Director Frank Wilson reported that considerable work had been done on city streets during the recent balmy weather, filling in holes created by the winter's upheavals.

Chairman Arch Wentz of the water committee reported that the water department was instigating the annual spring cleaning of the city's wells and water system in April.

GUARANTEED WAGE
SURVEY TO BEGIN

WASHINGTON, March 21.—With presidential blessing, a panel of White House advisers set out today to determine whether a guaranteed annual wage should be added to postwar job security plans.

The proposal leaped into prominence as a demand of the CIO United Steelworkers last fall. It was rejected by the War Labor board as subjecting the steel industry to such "serious financial risks" as to be "unworkable" in the form sought.

President Roosevelt yesterday asked the advisory board of the Office of War Mobilization and Conversion to undertake a nationwide study of existing wage-guarantee plans and recommend any "further steps in this direction which may seem practicable and desirable".

Sen. Taft (R., Ohio) said he believed such a study entirely proper, adding: "It will be difficult for some industries to guarantee annual wages, but some of them certainly can do it."

Taft expressed belief an annual wage might be helpful in reducing costs in mass production of housing.

Sgt. Jack Reisman, Former
Salem Man, Is War Victim

Sgt. Jack Reisman, former Salem clothing merchant, was killed in action in southern France Aug. 15 by a land mine, his brother, Ben, of East Palestine, has learned.

He was a veteran of five major campaigns, including Naples, the Anzio beachhead and Rome. He was killed while participating in the invasion of southern France.

Sgt. Reisman entered the service in April, 1943, and was sent overseas after 17 weeks of basic training. He had been wounded in action, wore the Purple Heart and Oak Leaf cluster, and several campaign ribbons.

Convict 4 Negro Wacs

FORT DEVENS, Mass., March 21.—Convicted of refusal to obey orders, four Negro WACS were sentenced last night to one year at hard labor and to be discharged dishonorably.

The quartet had contended they were ordered to perform menial tasks in Lovell general hospital because of their color.

Two male Negro officers and two white WAC officers were members of the seven-man court.

7,000 Allied Warplanes Rip
Germany In Day-Long Raids

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 21.—Allied air forces ripped Germany from dawn to dusk today with explosives from 7,000 warplanes, including 2,000 heavy bombers which unleashed one of the greatest coordinated attacks of the war.

The four-engined bombers from Britain attacked the Reich, while tactical fighters from the U. S. Eighth Army Air Force and the U. S. Ninth Air Force mauled German troops fleeing from the American advance toward the Rhine.

Another fleet of U. S. 15th Air Force bomber formations from Italy assaulted Nazi communications in Austria.

In the smoke-blanketed Ruhr valley, more and more the potential death trap threatened by General Eisenhower, railroads, highways and bridges were struck with shells, rockets and bombs.

In morning raids, 2,000 United States bombers and fighters hammered nine airfields in northwestern Germany and a tank factory at Plauen, 10 miles from the Czech-German border, and British planes struck a large oil refinery at Bremen.

United States fighters downed at least nine Nazi jet planes and destroyed 40 Nazi jet airplanes.

Ruhr Is Target

American Liberators from Italy bombed a jet-plane air base and Flying Fortresses pounded oil refineries in the Vienna area.

A second fleet of U. S. Eighth Air Force bombers flew into Germany late this afternoon.

The attack shifted to the Ruhr.

The U. S. fleet from Britain comprised 1,300 bombers with 700 fighters which also lugged bombs.

The American planes hit airfields located near Hopstein, Rheine, Achmer, Althorn, Hesse, Handorf, Zwischenahn, Wittmundhafen and Marx, some of which are bases for jet-propelled Messerschmitts.

The German radio said one force of heavy bombers attacked the already devastated city of Dresden.

The daylight raids started only a few hours after a great armada of RAF night raiders had struck at enemy oil refineries and blasted Berlin for the 29th consecutive night.

Organize Clothing
Collection To Help
War-Torn Countries

Under the chairmanship of Curtis H. Vaughn, a committee has been organized to prepare for Salem's participation in a United Nations Clothing collection. The drive is scheduled for April 1 to 30.

This collection is a united effort on the part of UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) and various voluntary war relief agencies in this country, to secure good used clothing for distribution to destitute peoples in war-devastated countries.

The drive will be conducted under the sponsorship of a national committee with Henry J. Kaiser as chairman.

The Salem committee, comprised of representatives of the four service clubs, includes: Kiwanis—E. S. Kerr, Robert Barton, Albert Morris; Lions—John Lewis, E. E. Engelhart; Arthur Lind, Urban Lepping; Rotary—Ray Stiver, R. S. McCulloch, Ralph Hawley; Quota—Elsie Thomas, Ella Stamp, Elizabeth Baker.

The committee plans to seek the cooperation of all clubs and organizations in the city, as well as the school children.

Details of the drive will be worked out at a later meeting.

ROBERT SCULLION
GERMAN PRISONER

Corp. Robert E. Scullion, who was reported missing in action on Dec. 11, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Scullion, Grankin rd., have been advised.

Corp. Scullion has been in the service two years and overseas since last October. His wife, Lucille, makes her home in Mountville, S. C.

Two brothers, Pfc. Paul L. Scullion and Corp. Leonard J. Scullion, are serving with the army somewhere in Germany.

Ex-Wellsville Football
Star Killed In Action

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 21.—Casualty news from Columbiana county today included a former Wellsville resident killed in action, another held prisoner of war and the freeing of a soldier held prisoner in Germany.

Previously listed as missing in action, Pfc. Walter J. Gibas, 33, an infantryman, was killed Jan. 3 in France, the War department advised his widow at Newell.

He was an all-Columbiana county football fullback while a Wellsville high school student and was a former brick company employee.

Missing since Dec. 24 in Luxembourg, Pvt. Marvin S. Miller, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller, of East Liverpool, is a prisoner of the Germans, relatives were informed.

Sgt. Frank J. Gerace, 26, member of a glider division and a veteran of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, who was captured Sept. 18 in Holland, has been liberated from a German prison camp by the Russians, his mother, Mrs. Michael Gerace, was advised today.

4 Third Army
Columns Near
Chemical City

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, March 21.—The German debacle in the Saarland and palatinate appeared likely today to cost Hitler's badly bled forces close to 100,000 casualties as the United States Third army closed to within five miles of the great chemical center of Ludwigshafen-Mannheim and fought inside Mainz.

Two German armies, the First and Seventh, either were wiped out or doomed except for scattered elements.

At Supreme headquarters, it was estimated that the swift Third army of Lt.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., alone had herded an estimated 30,000 Nazis into prison pens in 48 hours as it and Lt.-Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army closed new traps which might boost the overall total of captured in the whirlwind campaign to 75,000.

The Seventh army, driving up from the southern bases of the Saarland and palatinate, did not even tabulate its prisoners beyond the first 6,000.

The rich Saar valley, with its steel mills and vast coal deposits, was won, taking from Germany her third largest industrial sector.

Important cities such as Saarbruecken (population 135,000), Kaiserslautern (61,000), Worms (50,000) and Zweibruecken (16,000) were captured by the American Third and Seventh armies.

Some divisions advanced 15 miles or more a day. It seemed doubtful Hitler's army could rally for a stand in strength east of the Rhine—where greater offensives were in the making.

Extension of the First army's east Rhine bridgehead to a deployment area at least 25 miles long and up to nine wide underscored the threat to the Ruhr, invaded on the west and threatened by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' troops which captured Beul, Bonn suburb 14 miles south of the Ruhr.

Gen. Eisenhower warned that the Ruhr, the source of 75 per cent of all German war production in 1942, was next in line of conquest.

Patrol Lower Rhine

The lack of punching power east of the Rhine was apparent in German ranks. Prisoners plodded to the rear in uncounted thousands. The enemy had thrown the best troops at the Remagen bridgehead and failed to check its expansion.

The enemy was falling back upon the narrow Sieg and Wied rivers, plainly despairing of driving the Americans from the east bank of the Rhine.

The American Ninth, British Second and Canadian First stood in strength opposite the cities of Dueseldorf and Duisburg and engaged in vigorous patrolling over the lower Rhine.

Up to yesterday, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had inflicted 45,000 casualties on the German First and Seventh armies in the Saarland, palatinate and Hesse. He added 8,229 prisoners that yesterday and still had 20,000 awaiting transport to cages. The Seventh army had captured 6,940 prisoners by yesterday.

Scores of lesser villages fell to both armies. At least three pockets of Germans lay behind Allied lines awaiting death or capture.

The largest trap was a Saarland pocket of less than 80 square miles around Saarbruecken.

Compared to the staggering enemy losses, American casualties were surprisingly light, AP Correspondent Edward D. Ball reported.

A good many Allied officers, two disappointed and wary, now were willing to bet that the European war would be ended within 60 days—but they were getting some takers.

MARCH RAINS AID
OHIO FARM LANDS

Refreshens Soil But Delays
Plowing; Next Two Weeks Critical Period

Agricultural authorities were agreed today that the heavy March rainfall has not damaged farm crops but warned that the next two weeks will be a critical period for the Ohio farmer.

H. C. Ramsower, director of the Agricultural Extension service of Ohio State university; John Hodson, state director of agriculture, and Wilber Stout, state geologist, hailed the rain as a soil refresher.

Ramsower said plowing has been delayed because of soggy fields, but added there is still plenty of time.

He pointed out that oats must be sowed early to capitalize on the wet and cool weather, while corn planting can wait, if necessary, till May.

The extension service head felt the benefits of the soaked earth with wheat and grass getting a good start, would overshadow the problem of the "bunched up" work on the farmer.

"The farmer is still the biggest gambler," Hodson said, "and now their crops depend on how much more water will fall, and whether there will be a killing freeze after then seasonal warm weather."

He said tobacco growers in southern Ohio are three weeks behind schedule, but added "last year the late planters did a lot better than the early planters."

Hodson expressed fear that if the work piles up on the farmers, the lack of help may necessitate planting fewer late crops.

Geologist Stout observed that many farmers' wells are filling up and crops will benefit generally.

"There is perhaps too much surface water in southern Ohio and in the flat, swampy northwestern part of the state, but the all-important water table is rising," Stout said.

SUBMARINE BARBEL IS PRESUMED LOST

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The submarine Barbel is overdue from patrol and presumed lost with its officers and men, normally about 65 men.

A Navy communique today said next of kin had been notified.

The vessel was the 34th American submarine reported overdue and presumed lost, and the 40th lost from all causes, including four sunk and two destroyed to prevent capture.

It was the 273rd naval vessel of all types lost in the war.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Ninety-eight of every 100 Navy men and Marines wounded in the first three years of war have recovered.

Navy Secretary Forrestal, reporting this today in a talk prepared for a Red Cross luncheon, said that of every 100 wounded have been able to return to active combat duties.

A Clip At The Wrong Time

While most individuals and groups are doing their utmost these days to aid the home-front war effort, even if it requires longer hours than usual, the local barbers union issues a sour note in announcing that barber shops will be closed all day Wednesday. Already harassed by a shortage of help and a half-holiday once a week which makes it difficult for them to take care of the trade, these barbers now propose to make it more difficult for the war worker to get tonsorial attention.

They are working long hours now, it is true, but the recent union action will merely add to their worries and their labors. It would have been more opportune to have waited until conditions return somewhat to a peace-time normal for the announcement of a five-day week. Fortunately, three of the oldest and best established shops in the city will continue to give service.

Barbers have been well organized for several years but seldom have they used their organization to promote their best interests, by way of increasing trade. Usually they meet and argue about how much they will charge their customers. Intelligent leadership seems to be sadly lacking.

Fiorello Is Proving Something

The curfew squabble between New York's New Deal mayor and the Washington headquarters of the national We Know Best movement is going to prove something.

Fiorello LaGuardia, for reasons known only to himself, decided to run the midnight curfew edict issued by War Mobilizer Byrnes into the ground; he was the only mayor who made its enforcement so onerous that it attracted any special attention.

If he wants to prove only that New York considers itself above the regulations accepted by the rest of the country, that hardly needs proving. If he wants to prove that he can kick Washington in the teeth and get away with it, which is a far more interesting experiment, that is something else again. He is going to be out of a job next year and running for office. As a politician, he can afford no missteps. Evidently, in his judgment, he has more to gain in New York City by defying Washington than he has to lose.

It remains to be seen how this is going to work out, but something seems to have happened since the days when LaGuardia was so close to the New Deal that critics wondered whether he was mayor of New York or its ambassador to Washington.

As Trouble Arises

Senator Vandenberg's claim that all political decisions made during the war must be open to review lest they become issues in some other war needs to be stated even more broadly. If there is any reasonable hope of peace, it consists in the possibility that nations may learn to settle all their differences—those arising from this war, from settlements that preceded this war and settlements that will come after it—by arbitration.

Senator Vandenberg says the conference next month in San Francisco must reserve to peace-keepers the right to review the decisions of peace-makers. Specifically, he wants to give the United Nations the right to reopen settlements already made, in case they threaten to precipitate war. In the period before this war, if the same arrangement had existed, the issue of the Polish corridor would have been handled as a threat to security long before it finally erupted as Germany's excuse for going to war.

What Senator Vandenberg proposes is, in effect, a peace organization that would be charged with responsibility for averting the issues of war as well as for averting war. His proposal is potent because everything in history and everything now bearing on the subject of war testifies to the fact that war cannot be averted once nations capable of waging it have decided to abandon peace. The right to reopen issues and to seek more equitable settlements would not be a certain guarantee of peace, but it would be one full step closer than a mere attempt to preserve the status quo.

Aviation's Peak Performance

Piecemeal reports of critically severe damage to Japanese cities by our heavy bombers, aided occasionally by lighter planes flying from carriers, suggests that military aviation's peak performance is not going to be registered in Europe in World War II, but in Japan.

To be more exact, it suggests that military aviation may be finding in Japan the circumstances of a far more conclusive demonstration than that put on at Germany's expense. There may be favorable factors about the Japanese cities and their inhabitants which were absent in Europe.

It is a rare opportunity to be able to turn to account in one major war what was learned by trial and error at great cost in another, with no intervening lapse of time. The Japanese can curse the Germans for the efficient destruction wrought by the United States raids. It would have been impossible without the previous experience in Europe. Japan is undergoing aerial invasion by veterans, and judged by the apparent inability of its defenses to pull abreast of the attack it has not had the benefit of much advice from Germany's experts in defense.

Meanwhile, those American experts who have jumped at one shaky conclusion after another since the beginning of the war will do well not to make up their minds on the use of air power against Japan until they see how it turns out. It will not win the Japanese war single-handed, but it may come closer than it came against Germany in the hopeful days when optimists thought the present pitched battles on land would be wholly unnecessary.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, March 22.

THE mutual and lunar configurations bearing rule on today's affairs hold a distinctly intensifying as well as perplexing influence in which a keen analysis of baffling situations may make clear a program of soundly organized plans that may lead on to eventual success, both financially and in increased prestige and popularity.

It requires astute objective reasoning to overcome subtle, treacherous and malefic situations. Sign all writings, make agreements, and begin new matters or changes on sound consideration and caution. With care, there might be astonishing success, with public issues of importance. Intuitions are strong, inspirations reliable as guides.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which a crystallization of higher forces and faculties may avert some peculiar, vague or bewildering circumstances, which might be the result of intriguing, treacherous or sordid associations, carelessly contacted. Extreme precaution, especially in making agreements, signing documents or in making changes is recommended, lest subtle dangers arise in which public relations might figure. Premonitions, intuitions or inspired moves mainly are trustworthy in critical moments, but make decisions on a realistic basis.

A child born on this day may find itself incited to its actions and judgments by some subtle, intangible or visionary basis, reliable if its intuitions or "hunches" be finally formed on a basis of reality and good sense.

End of a Legend

In a burst of academic humor, the dean of Balliol college, Oxford, invited a distinguished visitor from Hollywood to address the student body. The visitor was Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, in England on a lease-lease mission.

Mr. Goldwyn has long been famous as the implacable foe of the King's (and Oxford's) English. But he played his assignment at Oxford straight. Not only did he avoid all Goldwynisms, but he took the pledge.

"For years I have been known for saying 'include me out,'" Mr. Goldwyn confessed, "but today I am giving it up forever."

This is heavy news. We have long suspected that Goldwynisms were the creation of press agents and Hollywood columnists. But these misconstructions of well-worn phrases were richly amusing, even though the alleged creator was innocent.

Now Mr. Goldwyn, by his renunciation, has destroyed the Goldwyn legend. Not only that, he has put himself off from reams of free publicity, all for the sake of dignity. In Hollywood, that would be considered treason or madness. It just goes to show you what the atmosphere of Oxford can do to a man.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Vitamin C Deficiency and How to Remedy It

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT IS generally agreed that if we eat a well-balanced diet, the foods we eat should give us a sufficient amount of the vitamins we need to maintain bodily health. Of course, there are many diseases which may interfere with the absorption and use of vitamins in the body, and in these cases, extra vitamins have to be administered. There are also, at present, certain difficulties which may interfere with the securing of a normal diet. Food costs are high, there are restrictions due to food rationing, and there are many food shortages.

According to Doctor Elmer L. Sevringhaus of Madison, Wisconsin, many adult Americans are not at present securing enough vitamin C for the body's health. The best source of vitamin C is citrus fruits—oranges, lemons, grapefruit, and limes.

Vitamin C also may be obtained in liberal quantities from tomatoes and fresh uncooked vegetables. Doctor Sevringhaus also thinks that a person should get about 75 milligrams of vitamin C or ascorbic acid each day. Ascorbic acid is the scientific name for vitamin C. Seventy-five milligrams equal about the weight of three grains of rice.

Fresh Fruits, Vegetables

In order to get 75 milligrams of ascorbic acid daily, a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables should be included in the diet each day. Cooked vegetables also supply small quantities of this vitamin but oxidation, or the combination of ascorbic acid with oxygen, destroys this vitamin, and during heating, oxidation goes on more rapidly. Exposure of foods to the air for long periods of time before they are eaten may also lead to the destruction of vitamin C. To get all the vitamin C needed each day from citrus fruit, it often takes about an eight-ounce glass of the juice, and it usually requires at least a pint of tomato juice.

If a person's diet must be limited for any reason to small amounts of citrus fruits and other fresh fruits and vegetables, he would be helped by taking a tablet of from 50 to 75 milligrams of ascorbic acid each day.

Early Symptoms

One of the early symptoms of vitamin C deficiency is bleeding of the gums. Other symptoms may be tiredness, loss of weight and strength, and bleeding into the lining membrane over the bones. If a person develops these symptoms he, of course, must be treated with vitamin C at once. In such instances, large doses of vitamin C are required, as much as ten times the amount needed for the prevention of vitamin C deficiency.

As I have said, the best way of getting vitamins is to take them in foods, because foods supply a variety of nutritive materials instead of just one single food part.

A Clip At The Wrong Time

While most individuals and groups are doing their utmost these days to aid the home-front war effort, even if it requires longer hours than usual, the local barbers union issues a sour note in announcing that barbers shops will be closed all day Wednesday. Already harassed by a shortage of help and a half-holiday once a week which makes it difficult for them to take care of the trade, these barbers now propose to make it more difficult for the war worker to get tonsorial attention.

They are working long hours now, it is true, but the recent union action will merely add to their worries and their labors. It would have been more opportune to have waited until conditions return somewhat to a peace-time normal for the announcement of a five-day week. Fortunately, three of the oldest and best established shops in the city will continue to give service.

Barbers have been well organized for several years but seldom have they used their organization to promote their best interests, by way of increasing trade. Usually they meet and argue about how much they will charge their customers. Intelligent leadership seems to be sadly lacking.

Fiorello Is Proving Something

The curfew squabble between New York's New Deal mayor and the Washington headquarters of the national We Know Best movement is going to prove something.

Fiorello LaGuardia, for reasons known only to himself, decided to run the midnight curfew edict issued by War Mobilizer Byrnes into the ground; he was the only mayor who made its enforcement so obnoxious that it attracted any special attention.

If he wants to prove only that New York considers itself above the regulations accepted by the rest of the country, that hardly needs proving. If he wants to prove that he can kick Washington in the teeth and get away with it, which is a far more interesting experiment, that is something else again. He is going to be out of a job next year and running for office. As a politician, he can afford no missteps. Evidently, in his judgment, he has more to gain in New York City by defying Washington than he has to lose.

It remains to be seen how this is going to work out, but something seems to have happened since the days when LaGuardia was so close to the New Deal that critics wondered whether he was mayor of New York or its ambassador to Washington.

As Trouble Arises

Senator Vandenberg's claim that all political decisions made during the war must be open to review lest they become issues in some other war needs to be stated even more broadly. If there is any reasonable hope of peace, it consists in the possibility that nations may learn to settle all their differences—those arising from this war, from settlements that preceded this war and settlements that will come after it—by arbitration.

Senator Vandenberg says the conference next month in San Francisco must reserve to peace-keepers the right to review the decisions of peace-makers. Specifically, he wants to give the United Nations the right to reopen settlements already made, in case they threaten to precipitate war. In the period before this war, if the same arrangement had existed, the issue of the Polish corridor would have been handled as a threat to security long before it finally erupted as Germany's excuse for going to war.

What Senator Vandenberg proposes is, in effect, a peace organization that would be charged with responsibility for averting the issues of war as well as for averting war. His proposal is potent because everything in history and everything now bearing on the subject of war testifies to the fact that war cannot be averted once nations capable of waging it have decided to abandon peace. The right to reopen issues and to seek more equitable settlements would not be a certain guarantee of peace, but it would be one full step closer than a mere attempt to preserve the status quo.

Aviation's Peak Performance

Piecemeal reports of critically severe damage to Japanese cities by our heavy bombers, aided occasionally by lighter planes flying from carriers, suggests that military aviation's peak performance is not going to be registered in Europe in World War II, but in Japan.

To be more exact, it suggests that military aviation may be finding in Japan the circumstances of a far more conclusive demonstration than that put on at Germany's expense. There may be favorable factors about the Japanese cities and their inhabitants which were absent in Europe.

It is a rare opportunity to be able to turn to account in one major war what was learned by trial and error at great cost in another, with no intervening lapse of time. The Japanese can curse the Germans for the efficient destruction wrought by the United States raids. It would have been impossible without the previous experience in Europe. Japan is undergoing aerial invasion by veterans, and judged by the apparent inability of its defenses to put abreast of the attack it has not had the benefit of much advice from Germany's experts in defense.

Meanwhile, those American experts who have jumped at one shaky conclusion after another since the beginning of the war will do well not to make up their minds on the use of air power against Japan until they see how it turns out. It will not win the Japanese war single-handed, but it may come closer than it came against Germany in the hopeful days when optimists thought the present pitched battles on land would be wholly unnecessary.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, March 22.

THE mutual and lunar configurations bearing rule on today's affairs hold a distinctly intensifying as well as perplexing influence in which a keen analysis of baffling situations may make clear a program of soundly organized plans that may lead on to eventual success, both financially and in increased prestige and popularity.

It requires astute objective reasoning to overcome subtle, treacherous and malefic influences. Sign all writings, make agreements, and begin new matters or changes on sound consideration and caution. With care, there might be astonishing success, with public issues of importance. Intuitions are strong, inspirations reliable as guides.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which a crystallization of higher forces and faculties may avert some peculiar, vague or bewildering circumstances, which might be the result of intriguing, treacherous or sordid associations, carelessly contacted. Extreme precaution, especially in making agreements, signing documents or in making changes is recommended, lest subtle dangers arise in which public relations might figure. Premonitions, intuitions or inspired moves mainly are trustworthy in critical moments, but make decisions on a realistic basis.

A child born on this day may find itself incited to actions and judgments by some subtle, intangible or visionary basis, reliable if its intuitions or "hunches" be finally formed on a basis of reality and good sense.

End of a Legend

In a burst of academic humor, the dean of Balliol college, Oxford, invited a distinguished visitor from Hollywood to address the student body. The visitor was Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, in England on a lease mission.

Mr. Goldwyn has long been famous as the implacable foe of the King's (and Oxford's) English. But he played his assignment at Oxford straight. Not only did he avoid all Goldwynisms, but he took the pledge.

"For years I have been known for saying 'include me out,'" Mr. Goldwyn confessed, "but today I am giving it up forever."

This is heavy news. We have long suspected that Goldwynisms were the creation of press agents and Hollywood columnists. But these misconstructions of well-worn phrases were richly amusing, even though the alleged creator was innocent.

Now Mr. Goldwyn, by his renunciation, has destroyed the Goldwyn legend. Not only that, he has put himself off from realms of free publicity, all for the sake of dignity. In Hollywood, that would be considered treason or madness. It just goes to show you what the atmosphere of Oxford can do to a man.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Vitamin C Deficiency and How to Remedy It

By HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M.D.

IT IS generally agreed that if we eat a well-balanced diet, the foods we eat should give us a sufficient amount of the vitamins we need to maintain bodily health. Of course, there are many diseases which may interfere with the absorption and use of vitamins in the body, and in these cases, extra vitamins have to be administered. There are also, at present, certain difficulties which may interfere with the securing of a normal diet. Food costs are high, there are restrictions due to food rationing, and there are many food shortages.

According to Doctor Elmer L. Seervingshaus of Madison, Wisconsin, many adult Americans are not at present securing enough vitamin C for the body's health. The best source of vitamin C is citrus fruits—oranges, lemons, grapefruit, and limes.

Vitamin C also may be obtained in liberal quantities from tomatoes and fresh uncooked vegetables. Doctor Seervingshaus also thinks that a person should get about 75 milligrams of vitamin C or ascorbic acid each day. Ascorbic acid is the scientific name for vitamin C. Seventy-five milligrams equal about the weight of three grains of rice.

Fresh Fruits, Vegetables

In order to get 75 milligrams of ascorbic acid daily, a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables should be included in the diet each day. Cooked vegetables also supply small quantities of this vitamin but oxidation, or the combination of ascorbic acid with oxygen, destroys this vitamin, and during heating, oxidation goes on more rapidly. Exposure of foods to the air for long periods of time before they are eaten may also lead to the destruction of vitamin C. To get all the vitamin C needed each day from citrus fruit, it often takes about an eight-ounce glass of the juice, and it usually requires at least a pint of tomato juice.

If a person's diet must be limited for any reason to small amounts of citrus fruits and other fresh fruits and vegetables, he would be helped by taking a tablet of from 50 to 75 milligrams of ascorbic acid each day.

Early Symptoms

One of the early symptoms of vitamin C deficiency is bleeding of the gums. Other symptoms may be tiredness, loss of weight and strength, and bleeding into the lining membrane over the bones. If a person develops these symptoms he, of course, must be treated with vitamin C at once. In such instances, large doses of vitamin C are required, as much as ten times the amount needed for the prevention of vitamin C deficiency.

As I have said, the best way of getting vitamin C is to take them in foods, because foods supply a variety of nutritive materials instead of just one single food part.

Death's BRIGHT DIAMONDS

by Lionel Mosher

THE STORY: Cass Hapes of the local police force stops by to investigate the lights at the Hudson. He is surprised to find the Hudson party there, saying he has suspected party on the estate for some time. He shows a bullet hole in his hat from the night before. After he leaves, Charley announces that he had told Cass only that afternoon who was staying at the house.

XIII

That coffee was inordinately strong. I had three cups of it and I had worn a path on the bedroom rug from the bed to the window. The rain beatidly on the roof of the north wing below, and I could see the beam of the Juniper Hill air beacon as it flashed across the sky.

I found a book on the bureau: The Case of the Hanging Corpse. It was one of those swift-moving affairs that trusted little to the sentence of the reader, and on the first page a brunette clad in white satin swung gently to and fro from a chandelier with a corded bell-pull knotted neatly about her throat. I closed the book and turned out my light.

I lay on my back and I was thinking about a day 20 years ago. A bright, sunny day with the checked shadows of the maples capping the streets. I had got into a fight with Bernard Spiegel because he was German. The bitterness of the first World War was still very close to us. I was flailing away vigorously but ineffectually when my father came along and stopped the fight.

The war, he had explained, was over. People should not hate one another. They should love one another. There would never again be wars such as the last war. Certainly if the war had taught us anything, it had taught us that.

Right there is where I stopped my dreaming. Because of the palpable falsity of that last statement I opened my eyes. Something was wrong. Across the floor of my bedroom was a symmetrical line of pale yellow that didn't belong there. It ran diagonally away from the door and made a broadening pillar on the carpet. Someone was softly opening the door of my room. I saw his shadow darkening the doorway. Then with a movement so swift and silent that it seemed unreal the figure was in the room and had closed the door behind him.

A flashlight beam licked along the wall. I lay still as a shroud. Straining my eyes against the curtain of blackness, I sucked in my breath. But my nerve-taut body craved action.

My cigarette-lighter stood on the table at the head of my bed. I reached out, and seized it, and hurried it straight through the upper panes of the open window. The shattering glass ripped into the silence as I heaved myself off the bed. There was the soft wham of a silencer and the swift "blip" of a bullet into the plaster.

Then I got a fistful of coat and dragged the man close, groping for his gun-hand. Immediately I found myself on the floor with a hard thick forearm clamped around my windpipe. Pain seared my brain. Golden pinwheels spun before my eyes.

Dreamily, on the fringe of consciousness, I waited for the man to shoot. I began to wish he would. My lungs ballooned against my ribs and black misery swamped my senses. I went limp; the forearm relaxed slightly; and with a sudden upward thrust, I mailed the man's chin with the back of my head. I whirled, got a bar on his arm, my fingers slithering over the barrel of the gun. Savagely I yanked downward. Fear and anger lent me strength and I took up another notch. There was a sudden grunt of pain and the pistol came loose in my hand.

I holled clear and saw his shadow in the doorway. He looked big and that's all I saw. An excellent target, but I did not shoot. I know by now how ready a man must be to kill, yet I could not

Fear Of Surpluses Kept WFA From Hiking Meat Production

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Last summer and fall some Allied military leaders were saying the war in Europe could end by Christmas. The government began to cut back production of war materials and arrange for a gradual conversion to peacetime production.

War Food administration (WFA) officials—haunted by the fear of farm surpluses, agriculture's troublemakers of the 30's followed suit.

They believed that if Germany were defeated in 1944 much less food would be needed to meet military and lend-lease requirements in 1945.

Meat production was declining because of a severe feed shortage the first eight months of 1944. But bountiful harvests largely replenished feed supplies by the fall of that year.

Fearing surpluses, the WFA made no effort to bring about a substantial revival in meat production—which a return of plentiful feed supplies would have made possible. The agency kept in force the reduced price guarantees for hogs which it established earlier when feed became scarce and livestock liquidation became necessary.

Surplus of Grain

Had food officials planned last September with the idea that the European war could continue well into 1945, that undoubtedly would have raised the hog price guarantee. This would have encouraged higher production late in 1944 and through 1945.

As it is, millions of bushels of grain stand unused because there are no animals to feed. When it became apparent there was to be no early end to the European fighting, it was too late to do anything which would have brought more pork to market before the winter of 1945-46. Only beef production is likely to be greater this year than last. But greatly reduced supplies of pork, lamb, mutton and poultry make beef all the harder to get.

Cattlemen contend beef production could be even larger than now indicated but that price control and other regulations hinder production. They say the spread between prices which "feed lot" operators must pay for unfattened cattle obtained from western ranges, and the prices which they get from packers for fattened cattle, has been too narrow. They say this discourages the feeding of cattle to heavy weights and quality grades.

Some WFA officials expect a severe egg shortage next fall and winter. This expectation is based upon reports of widespread sales of laying hens for meat and upon prospects that fewer eggs will move into cold storage this spring.

The same policies and feed grain developments which caused the pork glut in 1944 have contributed to a tightening of cooking fats and shortening.

The butter shortage appears perplexing when milk production is being maintained at record levels. The explanation is simple. Government price policies tend to encourage putting milk into dairy products other than butter—chiefly bottled milk, evaporated milk, dried milk and cheese.

Way To Relieve Itchy Pimples

When your skin is irritated with pimples, red blotches and other skin blemishes, and you're crazy with itching torture, here's quick relief. Get a 35c box of Peterson's Ointment at your druggist and apply this delightful soothing balm. Itching relieved promptly. Smarting soothed. Your skin looks better, feels better. Also wonderful for itching of feet, cracks between toes. Try it.

Food production is being adversely affected by many other factors. The farm labor supply is the smallest in nearly 40 years. Farmers have not been able to get anywhere near the farm machinery needed. Fertilizers have not been plentiful. Shortage of rail and truck transportation has often interfered with movement of feed to livestock producers.

A recent Agriculture department report said that only 65 per cent of the nation's milk cows were being milked on March 1. This is the lowest percentage for that date since 1934 and the second lowest in 17 years.

HOLLOW GROUND

In the corridor, the door to the adjoining room was open. I saw the curtains fluttering inward from an open window. Outside there was nothing but an easy drop to an eutched roof a man's height from the ground, blue shadows in the darkness, and in the sky a placid, beautiful, but quite unilluminating sickle moon, which had appeared after the rain.

I went back to my room, put on my robe and slippers and kicked the broken glass into a corner. I turned out my light again, tilted a chair against the wall facing the door, took out my cigarettes, and laid the pistol on my knee. Smoking in the darkness is not much fun, but it helps to keep you awake. And I did stay awake through three cigarettes, but my thinking was very muddy. Only one clear thought shone beacon-like in my brain: whoever had entered my room had an implacable enemy in Nicholas Trent and it's an unconscionably long and lazy worm that never turns. With this consoling thought I fell asleep.

When I awoke, the sun was shining and there was the odor of sea and rain-washed earth. I was back in bed, although I didn't remember lying down. And I should have thought last night was a dream, if I hadn't been clutching the pistol. I liked the feeling of it. I examined it. The layman gets little information about the ownership of a pistol from staring at its exterior. It was an unlovely thing with a silencer bulking over the chamber.

I found the bullet in the plaster to the left of the bed, and I dug it out with my knife. It was a very ugly and lethal-looking slug, and I think it would have made a quite untidy hole in my chest.

Surplus of Grain

Had food officials planned last September with the idea that the European war could continue well into 1945, that undoubtedly would have raised the hog price guarantee. This would have encouraged higher production late in 1944 and through 1945.

As it is, millions of bushels of grain stand unused because there are no animals to feed. When it became apparent there was to be no early end to the European fighting, it was too late to do anything which would have brought more pork to market before the winter of 1945-46.

Slaughtered Too Soon
Many cattle go to market thin and underweight. This deprives the nation of 300 to 600 pounds of extra beef per head.

Official concern over possible surpluses is reflected in poultry and egg production too. Last fall when end of the European conflict appeared to some to be near at hand, WFA called upon farmers to reduce egg-laying flocks and to plan fewer chickens for meat in 1945.

WFA was influenced also of unhappy experiences it had with an egg surplus in the spring of 1944. More eggs were produced than the market could absorb or storage houses hold. Producer prices dropped sharply. This forced the government to step in and buy eggs in order to carry out a price guarantee and prevent great waste. Even so, some of the eggs rotted.

Civilians could get all the meat they wanted then and consequently tended to eat fewer eggs. Now the situation has reversed. There is a shortage of meats and civilians are demanding more eggs as a substitute for meats.

Yet this year's output of both eggs and poultry meat will be smaller than in 1944. WFA efforts

Orders Venire Drawn

LISBON, March 21—Judge Joel H. Sharp of the common pleas court yesterday ordered the jury commissioners to draw 200 names from the jury wheel at 1 p. m. Monday, as grand and petit jurors for the April term of court.

Poor Digestion? Headachy? Sour or Upset? Tired-Listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25c.

Rev. John Woodhouse of Batavia, N. Y., who is in charge of the Evangelistic crusade at the First Friends church this week, will speak tonight on the subject, "The American Curse."

Last night he discussed "The Essentials to Final Salvation." The Koon twins, 10-year-old Akron girls, sang four songs. Special numbers were given by Rev. Woodhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Metts, Kokomo, Ind., and Rev. C. E. Zikos, Akron.

A delegation from the Akron Wesleyan Methodist church attended the service.

Youth for Christ rallies will be held on Friday and Saturday nights and at 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon the Cleveland Bible college chorus will give a sacred concert.

Orders Venire Drawn

Lisbon, March 21—Judge Joel H. Sharp of the common pleas court yesterday ordered the jury commissioners to draw 200 names from the jury wheel at 1 p. m. Monday, as grand and petit jurors for the April term of court.

Poor Digestion? Headachy? Sour or Upset? Tired-Listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25c.

Need More Red Points? Here's How!

1. When Mrs. Helen Patrick cooks, the fat container is always in a convenient spot for salvaging used fat. It is as much a part of her cooking equipment as salt or skillet.

2. Clear fat is poured directly into the fat salvage container. Comely young matron is the wife of Lt. Joseph A. Patrick, who is somewhere in the Pacific.

3. Raw and cooked meat left-overs are scraped into a pan and melted down over a slow flame on top of the stove or in the oven when it is being used for baking or roasting.

4. Accumulated fats are strained to remove sediment. Used kitchen fats are invaluable for thousands of civilian and military purposes. Scrape, skim, scoop every drop.

5. This careful housewife puts a paper cover on her can of fat (any tin can will do) and takes it to the butcher.

Get more red ration stamps, by following the simple, efficient steps worked out by home economics experts. The six news pictures on this page were taken by the New York World-Telegram to show its readers the most efficient way to save every drop of used cooking fat and how to turn it in for four cents and two red ration points a pound.

Conscientious housewives scoop, skim, and scrape while they cook—conserve every drop of kitchen fat for reuse and salvage.

Supplies of industrial fats and oils are short—your used cooking fats help fill the deficit, enabling factories to maintain top production of munitions, military medicines, and thousands of home front essentials.

6. Here, Mrs. Patrick turns her used fats over to the butcher. She receives two red ration points and four cents—but more important, she has the satisfaction of helping the war effort. Fats and oils will continue to be short until the South Pacific Islands again become fat-producers.

Jack Hickling Rolls 673 In Singles To Lead In Tournament

Doubles Lead Taken Over By Lossick-Beltempo Team

Leads changed hands in both the doubles and singles last night at the Washingtonville alleys as high scores again were posted on the second night of the new competitions.

The Lossick-Beltempo doubles combination moved into first place by rolling 1213, just one better than the previous high scored by Craig-Borton. The new leaders used a handicap of 105.

In the singles several new highs were noted last night. Jack Hickling, Sr., a 147 average bowler, posted 673 (90 handicap) to top the previous high made by A. Arnold Monday. M. Oesch also topped Arnold's 656 with a 658 (48 handicap) to move into second place.

Other 600 scores stood last night but several changes were made in the 500 ranks.

Thirty doubles prizes will be awarded and 42 in the singles events.

BASKETBALL!

A practice game between the Salem Athletics and the Salem Clippers will be the feature attraction at the Memorial building at 8 tonight. Both teams are preparing for entry into out-of-town tournaments.

Members of both teams are asked to be at the building by 7:30 so warm-ups and other pre-game activities can be finished and the game started on time.

BOB FELLER CAN MOAN WITH BEST OF COACHES NOW

Newly Appointed Great Lakes Chief Has All Material He Needs

By JIMMY JORDAN
GREAT LAKES, Ill., March 21.—For a coach who's been on the job only 24 hours, Chief Specialist Bob (Rapid Robert) Feller can moan like a veteran.

Yesterday the Navy appointed Bob, Cleveland Indians' fireball artist a few years back, to head the Great Lakes Baseball dynasty for 1945. He's worried about material, but he has more abled and experienced players than many of the 16 major league clubs.

The 26-year-old former pitching king of the American league is taking over his first managerial job right on the heels of a great season by Bluejacket diamond stars, who were managed by Lt. Cmdr. Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, one of the all-time great catchers of the majors and former Detroit manager.

"We plan to play every major league team at least once, and all eight American association teams once each," Feller said today.

For a nucleus around which to build, Rapid Robert admits he has the veteran Clyde Shoun, Cincinnati Reds pitcher; Outfielder Max Marshall of Cincinnati; Third Baseman Ken Keltz of the Cleveland Indians, who reached Great Lakes today and possibly Dick Wakefield, who pulled Detroit to within a game of the American league pennant last year.

"I'll pitch," he said. "I've been working out as much as possible and should be in pretty good shape by the time we start practice April 1."

Feller recently from 26½ months aboard ship, wearing one gold star and three other stars for his activity in the Pacific, ribbons for the Leyte invasion, Pacific American and Mediterranean war theaters.

50 SALEM WOMEN'S LEAGUE BOWLERS IN CLEVELAND TOURNEY

Eagles Are Tenth In Team Event As Six Bowlers Roll Over 600

Fifty Salem women bowlers, participating in the Ohio State Women's bowling tournament in Cleveland, placed at least six singles entries in the money and at least one team in the team event winners.

The Eagles No. 1 squad rolled 2893 (426 handicap) to place 10th in the standings so far in the tournament. The affair is scheduled over a two month period. Four more weeks of bowling remain.

The possibility of the Eagles score standing is very good and money is nearly assured as some 300 teams stand to figure in the money.

Singles prizes, to go to the first 900 women bowlers, are practically assured the six Salemites who tallied over the 600 mark. The highest singles game so far is 658. Salem highs were L. Tetlow 634, M. Harroff 628, G. Vannie 613, B. Hull 611, D. Fast 610 and A. Akins 601.

Salem bowlers rolled 23 sets of doubles and 46 singles Sunday. Ten teams participated.

Lancaster High Signs Jack Dugger As Coach

LANCASTER, March 21.—Jack Dugger of Canton, Ohio State university's All-Big Ten end last season, has been signed as head football coach at Lancaster High school for next season. Superintendent of Schools Paul Wenger announced.

Dugger, who will be graduated from Ohio State this spring, joins the Lancaster faculty Aug. 1. He fills a vacancy created when Eko Sarkkinen, another former Ohio State grid star, joined the Coast Guard. J. C. Papritan has coached the Lancaster team for the past three years but asked to be relieved of coaching duties.

Bisons Bump Cleveland
The Buffalo Bisons opened defense of their Calder cup trophy by whipping Cleveland, 4 to 1, as the American Hockey league playoffs opened last night. Hershey took the lead in the other semi-final series by beating Indianapolis, 3 to 1.

Jack Hickling Rolls 673 In Singles To Lead In Tournament

Doubles Lead Taken Over By Lossick-Beltempo Team

Leads changed hands in both the doubles and singles last night at the Washingtonville alleys as high scores again were posted on the second night of the new competition.

The Lossick-Beltempo doubles combination moved into first place by rolling 1213, just one better than the previous high scored by Craig-Borton. The new leaders used a handicap of 105.

In the singles several new highs were noted last night. Jack Hickling, Sr., a 147 average bowler, posted 673 (90 handicap) to top the previous high made by A. Arnold Monday. M. Oesch also topped Arnold's 656 with a 658 (48 handicap) to move into second place.

Other 600 scores stood last night but several changes were made in the 600 range.

Thirty doubles prizes will be awarded and 42 in the singles events.

Members of both teams are asked to be at the building by 7:30 so warm-ups and other pre-game activities can be finished and the game started on time.

BOB FELLER CAN MOAN WITH BEST OF COACHES NOW

Newly Appointed Great Lakes Chief Has All Material He Needs

By JIMMY JORRAN

GREAT LAKES, Ill., March 21.—For a coach who's been on the job only 24 hours, Chief Specialist Bob (Rapid Robert) Feller can moan like a veteran.

Yesterday the Navy appointed Bob, Cleveland Indians' fireball artist a few years back, to head the Great Lakes Baseball dynasty for 1945. He's worried about material, but he has more abled-bodied and experienced players than many of the 16 major league clubs.

The 26-year-old former pitching king of the American league is taking over his first managerial job right on the heels of a great season by Bluejacket diamond stars, who were managed by Lt. Cmdr. Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, one of the all-time great catchers of the majors and former Detroit manager.

"We plan to play every major league team at least once, and all eight American association teams once each," Feller said today.

For a nucleus around which to build, Rapid Robert admits he has the veteran Clyde Shoun, Cincinnati Reds pitcher; Outfielder Max Marshall of Cincinnati; Third Baseman Ken Keltner of the Cleveland Indians, who reached Great Lakes today and possibly Dick Wakefield, who pulled Detroit to within a game of the American league pennant last year.

"I'll pitch," he said. "I've been working out as much as possible and should be in pretty good shape by the time we start practice April 1." Feller recently from 26 1/2 months aboard ship, wearing one gold star and three other stars for his activity in the Pacific, ribbons for the Leyte invasion, Pacific, American and Mediterranean war theaters.

50 SALEM WOMEN'S LEAGUE BOWLERS IN CLEVELAND TOURNEY

Eagles Are Tenth In Team Event As Six Bowlers Roll Over 600

Fifty Salem women bowlers, participating in the Ohio State Women's bowling tournament in Cleveland, placed at least six singles entries in the money and at least one team in the team event winners.

The Eagles No. 1 squad rolled 2893 (426 handicap) to place 10th in the standings so far in the tournament. The affair is scheduled over a two month period. Four more weeks of bowling remain.

The possibility of the Eagles score standing is very good and money is nearly assured as some 300 teams stand to figure in the money.

Singles prizes, to go to the first 900 women bowlers, are practically assured the six Salemites who tallied over the 600 mark. The highest singles game so far is 658, Salem high 628, G. Vannie 613, B. Hull 611, D. Fast 610 and A. Akens 601.

Salem bowlers rolled 23 sets of doubles and 46 singles Sunday. Ten teams participated.

Lancaster High Signs

Jack Dugger As Coach

LANCASTER, March 21.—Jack Dugger of Canton, Ohio State University's All-Big Ten end last season, has been signed as head football coach at Lancaster High school for next season, Superintendent of Schools Paul Wenger announced.

Dugger, who will be graduated from Ohio State this spring, joins the Lancaster faculty Aug. 1. He fills a vacancy created when Eko Sarkkinen, another former Ohio State grid star, joined the Coast Guard. J. C. Papritan has coached the Lancaster team for the past three years but asked to be relieved of coaching duties.

Bisons Bump Cleveland

The Buffalo Bisons opened defense of their Calder cup trophy by whipping Cleveland, 4 to 1, as the American Hockey league playoffs opened last night. Hershey took the lead in the other semi-final series by beating Indianapolis, 3 to 1.

preparation for the summer's heavy usage.

Charles Rheutan again requested that council take action to force the improvement of a sidewalk on the southeast corner of Second and N. Landy ave. Rheutan said the walk, built around a large tree, was extremely dangerous and needed immediate correction.

Councilman Wentz said the contract for repair of the walk was let and that further action by council was impossible.

A claim for damage to her car, presented by Mrs. Lydia Harshman, 314 Park ave., was referred to the claims committee. Mrs. Harshman said she had damaged her car to the extent of $16.57 on a large rut in the city street near the corner of Park ave. and Maple st.

The mayor's report for February showed an income of $249. Licenses netted $49, city fines $90.00, state patrol cases $55, and city costs $55.40.

Soybean Plantings Low

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Department of Agriculture estimates the 1945 soybean planting in Ohio at 1,336,000 acres. A total U. S. planting of 13,236,000 acres, slightly less than 1944 and lowest since 1941, is indicated.

An average decrease of about one per cent of the crop in the north central states, where 60 per cent is grown, is expected.

OBITUARY

EDWARD Z. GRUBBS
Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Stark Memorial for Edward Z. Grubbs, 55, of R. D. 5, Lisbon, who died at his home yesterday following an illness of three years.

Rev. Trotter of East Rochester will be in charge of the service. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial from 7 to 9 p. m. Thursday evening.

Surviving are his wife, Laula, a daughter, two sons, one brother, five sisters, two grandchildren and his father, John B. Grubbs of Salem. His mother died last September.

HOMER L. DEEMER

LISBON, March 21.—Homer L. Deemer, 58, of E. Lincoln way, died at his home at 2:23 p. m. yesterday following an illness of more than a year.

Born in Lisbon May 31, 1886, he was the son of Wilbur and Elizabeth Deemer. His mother and his wife, Evelyn, survive him.

He was a member of the Lisbon Masonic lodge, Salem commandry 42, Knights Templar, and the Al Koran shrine of Cleveland. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and was a past president of the Kiwanis club.

Formerly associated with the Lisbon Salesbook Co. in an executive capacity, Mr. Deemer had been retired for several years.

Surviving, besides his wife and mother, are one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Crook of Lisbon; two brothers, Frank of Cleveland and Paul of Bowling Green, Ky., and a sister, Mrs. Bert Graebing of Lisbon.

Funeral service will be held at the Ellis funeral home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, in charge of Rev. J. Morgan Cox. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Sues In Blast Death

CLEVELAND, March 21.—In the first death claim suit resulting from the East Ohio Gas Co. fire last Oct. 20, Mrs. Ellen Moran, whose husband, Patrick, was killed, asked $100,000 damages from the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., described as erectors of the exploded tanks, and the City of Cleveland.

Coroner Rules Suicide In Death At New Waterford

NEW WATERFORD, March 21.—William Bell, 65, of New Waterford-Hill road, died Monday after slashing both wrists with a razor blade. He was found in the orchard on his farm by his wife. Coroner E. R. Sturgis gave a verdict of suicide.

Mr. Bell had been in ill health for about two years. Born Sept. 26, 1879, in Steubenville, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell. He was a member of the Methodist church.

Besides his wife, Elsie Kibler Bell, he leaves five brothers, Charles, Arch, Frank, Clarence and Howard, all of Steubenville, and two sisters, Mrs. Blanche Grey and Mrs. Margaret Gruber, both of Toronto.

Funeral service will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Warrick funeral home, Columbiana, where friends may call tonight.

Agriculture Leaders To Aid Food Shortage Probe

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) disclosed today that state agriculture commissioners throughout the nation will be enlisted in a senate agriculture subcommittee inquiry into current food shortages.

Thomas told reporters, "this isn't a muck-raking expedition, but an inquiry looking to a solution."

The Oklahoman declared that everywhere I go the country is alive with cattle, yet meat and butter don't reach the dining tables of the people.

"There's plenty in the black market," he said.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 21.—Stocks suffered another sharp decline today on heavy selling attributed to nervousness over the market's recent upsets.

Many rail and industrial leaders fell a point or more and in a few instances losses ranged from 3 to 4 points. Near the fourth hour selling slackened, permitting some recoveries from the lows.

Rails were hit about as hard as any group, although some of the carriers were given sturdy support when the pressure eased.

Among the wider losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Pullman, Standard Oil (N. J.), Phillips Petroleum, Skelly Oil, Dupont and Union Carbide.

Gen. McAuliffe Escapes Unhurt In Nazi Barrage

(By Associated Press)

U. S. 7TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Germany, March 21.—Maj. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who said "nuts" to a German surrender demand at Bastogne, had a close call in the Wissembourg sector yesterday.

Self-propelled guns, anti-tank rifles and snipers laid down a fire from positions dominating the town of Niderschlettenbach when the Washington general went in with his 103rd (Cactus) division. He escaped unharm.

Fourteen Germans, bearing a white flag surrendered to him personally and announced that all occupants of the village would give up. The Cactus division had captured 1,000 prisoners.

McAuliffe was given command of the division and a second general's star shortly after his heroic stand at Bastogne, in Belgium, during December when he was in charge of the surrounded 101st Airborne division. The German general who demanded vainly that McAuliffe and the parachute troops surrender was captured earlier this month.

U. S. Is Still Best Fed Nation, Bowles Claims

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Price Administrator Chester Bowles said today "we remain the best fed nation of the world," but he acknowledged civilian meat supplies will be shorter this year.

Testifying before the senate banking committee, Bowles asserted the American Meat Institute is attempting to "capitalize" on War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes' statement on the meat situation "by using it as a basis for an attack on price control."

"Thanks to the extraordinary efforts of our farmers, and in spite of the tremendous needs of the direct war effort," he said, "we remain the best fed nation of the world."

"Certainly civilian meat will be shorter than at any time during the war but that arises from the extraordinary needs of the war effort. The shortage would not be relieved in any degree by higher returns to the packers."

"OPA will not be stampeded into giving price increases."

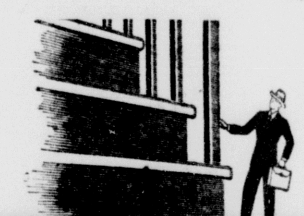

The Meat institute had contended that government price control policies were largely responsible for the shortage.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 21.—Stocks suffered another sharp decline today on heavy selling attributed to nervousness over the market's recent upsets.

Many rail and industrial leaders fell a point or more and in a few instances losses ranged from 3 to 4 points. Near the fourth hour selling slackened, permitting some recoveries from the lows.

Rails were hit about as hard as any group, although some of the carriers were given sturdy support when the pressure eased.

Among the wider losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Pullman, Standard Oil (N. J.), Phillips Petroleum, Skelly Oil, Dupont and Union Carbide.

Gen. McAuliffe Escapes Unhurt In Nazi Barrage

(By Associated Press)

U. S. 7TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Germany, March 21.—Maj. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who said "nuts" to a German surrender demand at Bastogne, had a close call in the Wissembourg sector yesterday.

Self-propelled guns, anti-tank rifles and snipers laid down a fire from positions dominating the town of Niderschlettenbach when the Washington general went in with his 103rd (Cactus) division. He escaped unhurt.

Fourteen Germans, bearing a white flag surrendered to him personally and announced that all occupants of the village would give up. The Cactus division had captured 1,000 prisoners.

McAuliffe was given command of the division and a second general's star shortly after his heroic stand at Bastogne, in Belgium, during December when he was in charge of the surrounded 101st Airborne division. The German general who demanded vainly that McAuliffe and the parachute troops surrender was captured earlier this month.

U. S. Is Still Best Fed Nation, Bowles Claims

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Price Administrator Chester Bowles said today "we remain the best fed nation of the world," but he acknowledged civilian meat supplies will be shorter this year.

Testifying before the senate banking committee, Bowles asserted the American Meat institute is attempting to "capitalize" on War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes' statement on the meat situation "by using it as a basis for an attack on price control."

"Thanks to the extraordinary efforts of our farmers, and in spite of the tremendous needs of the direct war effort," he said, "we remain the best fed nation of the world."

"Certainly civilian meat will be shorter than at any time during the war but that arises from the extraordinary needs of the war effort. The shortage would not be relieved in any degree by higher returns to the packers.

"OPA will not be stampeded into giving price increases."

The Meat institute had contended that government price controls policies were largely responsible for the shortage.
